The viewpoint is located at the summit of Ben Dorrery. From the B870 which connects Glengolly south of Thurso with the A9 at Mybster, turn west at the crossroads with the Halkirk road at the southern end of Loch Calder. Follow this minor road south until it arrives at the cluster of houses at Dorrery. Adjacent to the track which leads up the hill there is a grass verge which allows for a small amount of parking. There is a wooden gate at the start of the track, having passed through this, follow the track to the top. The track leads to the compound containing the masts, carry on around the western side of the compound to the north-east where the viewpoint is located.
